

Join us for a webinar
on Feb 25, 2019 at 5:00 PM CET

Keep Smiling

Maren Focke
Manager Knowledge Communication

Each patient reacts differently to a bleaching treatment. Short-term sensitivities are relatively common and can reduce the pleasure of brightened teeth for the treated person. There are many things to consider before, during and after the whitening. In this webinar you hear important things about:

- whitening materials and the in-office whitening process
- hypersensitivities after whitening and what may help
- ways to treat hypersensitivities in general

Register now:

<https://bit.ly/2VCpG7U>

After registering, you will receive a confirmation email containing information about joining the webinar.

Please register also even if you can't attend - this is the only way to get the link to the recording after the webinar.